PROFILE

Miranda Kuprava is a Georgian visual artist working at the intersection of contemporary sculpture, installation and functional art. Her practice is based on papier-mache and recycled paper, transforming everyday materials into sculptural objects that explore memory, ecology, imagination and human relationships.

Alongside her exhibition practice, she develops collectible functional artworks and sculptural lighting for architectural and interior spaces. She has collaborated with interior designers in Georgia, creating bespoke lighting and sculptural works for private residences, boutique hotels, restaurants and clubs.

ARTIST STATEMENT

I transform discarded paper into sculptural forms that connect memory, imagination and sustainability. My work exists between contemporary art and functional design, creating objects and environments where recycled materials become carriers of new narratives. Through sculpture, light and handcrafted processes, I explore how ordinary materials can generate extraordinary emotional experiences.
